BC TRANSMISSION CORP MOVES FORWARD ON $5.3 BILLION CAPITAL PLAN

VANCOUVER – The BC Transmission Corporation (BCTC) is moving ahead with the first two years of its $5.3 billion, 10-year capital plan with Tuesday's BC Utilities Commission (BCUC) decision on the company's F2010 and F2011 Capital Plan.

In its decision, the BCUC approved capital expenditures that will ensure the continued reliability of BC's transmission system, meet the growing demand for electricity, and integrate clean and renewable supplies of electricity.

BCTC's plan details capital investments for the next two years and provides an outlook of potential investments for the following eight years. The BCUC, as the body that regulates the province's utilities, is responsible for the review and approval of the projects contained in the plan.

The BCUC also clarified what it expects in order to decide on the adequacy of consultation with First Nations in regards to capital projects.
